Cole White

Graduate Research Assistant at the Desert Research Institute
Las Vegas, Nevada, United States

Summary

I am motivated to help individuals and communities connect with their present through the past. Advocating for Cultural Resources Management (CRM) will set me down a path towards illuminating our differences and celebrating our similarities.

I received my BA in Anthropology from the University of Nevada, Las Vegas in May of 2023. In August of 2024, I began a Graduate Program to study Archaeology.

I also have a personal photography blog I run as a hobby on Instagram under the handle @colewhitephotography. I am passionate about documenting the whole of the human experience, and I believe photography is an amazing window into the human soul and its connection to nature and the world around us.
